Dear Sirs:

I would like to send this note expressing my enthusiasm for your filter product. In my almost 40 years of manufacturing experience, I have never written such a letter.

Our purchase of the Oberlin filter system for our central grinding coolant system has been nothing but a first class experience. My engineering background told me that the theory of the filter looked great. Now, after 9 months of operation, my experience has told me that the design, installation and operation of the system exceeds my expectations. In this short time we have experienced several changes to our system – different coolants, different grinding wheels, etc., but even with all of these changes, the filter system has performed flawlessly.

When I initially saw the concept, I said “what a great idea”. Now that I have experienced the system I can say – “This is the best thing since sliced bread!”. And that from someone who manufactures bread slicers for a living!

Thank you Oberlin for the great new addition to our manufacturing facility.

Sincerely,
